

National Conversation on Education – Children’s Creative Spaces –

Educator Guide

How to take part

Minister for Children, Disability and Equality Norma Foley is inviting children from Early Learning and Care and School-Age Childcare services across the country to take part in Children’s Creative Spaces celebrating the theme “Where I learn and play”.

The aim is to give children the opportunity to express creativity, belonging, and their own experiences of their setting (Early Years or School-Age Childcare/After-School) adding their voice as part of the National Conversation on Education: the First Five Years and School-Age Childcare.

If your service would like to participate, all you have to do is:

- Talk to the children about Minister Foley’s invitation for them to tell her about the spaces they learn and play in through creative art.
- Using a variety of art materials children explore Where I learn and play.
- Use some prompts with the children such as
 - Draw something you love doing here.
 - What is your favourite place in our setting?
 - What do you like and what would you like more of?
 - What do you not like?
 - Draw yourself here.
 - What makes this place fun?
 - What do you enjoy playing or learning about here?

- Who is with you when you learn?
- If you could add anything magical here, what would it be?
- Invite children to reflect on their creations. Capture children's accompanying dialogue on the artwork.
 - Can you tell me the story of your drawing?
 - What is the favourite part of your picture?
 - Is there anything you would like me to write about it?
- Take pictures of children's individual art or a group artwork and submit to: info@kerrycountychildcare.com.

Services can also submit a piece of existing artwork from learning journals if it's relevant to the theme.
